FNS: Questions and Answers

USDA Food and Nutrition Services provides a series of Questions and Answers related to COVID-19:

<https://www.fns.usda.gov/covid-19/questions-answers-related-covid-19>

SNAP: More information

- Center on Budget and Policy Priorities, the basics:
<https://www.cbpp.org/research/food-assistance/policy-basics-the-supplemental-nutrition-assistance-program-snap>
- Center on Poverty and Social Policy:
<https://www.povertycenter.columbia.edu/news>
 - 34% of children in poverty do NOT receive SNAP (Parolin and Harris, March 2020)
 - Recent policies have restricted access:
 - Limiting state waiver requests for work requirements (Hartley, Wimer, and Waldfogel, March 2019)
 - “Public charge” rule affecting non-citizens’ participation (Wimer, Maury, and Bahl, December, 2018)
 - Proposed spending cuts and eligibility restrictions (Laird, Hartley, Pac, Wimer, and Waldfogel, January 2018)

Food Prices: Low Inflation Expected

“The 2020 CPI forecast indicates a continuation of low inflation at grocery stores and supermarkets. While it is likely that month-to-month volatility will increase as supply chains and the economy adjust to the coronavirus outbreak, we do not now expect big changes to food-at-home prices for the year overall. In 2020, food-at-home prices are expected to increase between 0.5 and 1.5 percent, potentially the fifth year in a row with deflating or lower-than-average inflating retail food prices. Food-away-from-home prices are expected to increase in a range between 1.5 and 2.5 percent in 2020.”

<https://www.ers.usda.gov/data-products/food-price-outlook/summary-findings/>

Great Recession and ARRA 2009

American Recovery and Reinvestment Act (ARRA), April 2009

“ARRA made two important changes to SNAP. The first affected benefit amounts and, in combination with BBCE, expanded the range of incomes at which households would be eligible for some SNAP benefit. The second substantially reduced work requirements for jobless ABAWDs.”

D.C. et al. v. USDA, March 13, 2020

Nineteen states, the District of Columbia, the City of New York, and three private plaintiffs have moved to enjoin preliminarily and to stay this new federal rule, issued by the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA), that would limit state-implemented waivers of the work requirements on which receipt of food assistance from SNAP may be conditioned.

- See Final Rule, SNAP: Requirements for Able-Bodied Adults Without Dependents, 84 Fed. Reg. 66782 [Dec. 5, 2019]

D.C. et al. v. USDA, March 13, 2020

The low-income Americans targeted by USDA's Final Rule depend on monthly SNAP benefits to avoid hunger. These SNAP participants may wield little political or economic power, but, nonetheless, USDA's proposed changes to take away nutrition benefits from almost 700,000 people prompted more than 100,000 comments, the majority of which the agency concedes were opposed to the proposed changes.

SNAP Benefit Determination

- Benefits are calculated as normal, and emergency allotments are added up to maximum
 - CARES Act rebates are excluded from income for SNAP eligibility/benefit determination
 - CARES Act unemployment benefits are treated as income similar to usual practice
- ABAWDs may continue regardless of time limits, or if previously disqualified by limits must reapply

SNAP Program Flexibility

- Application filing (mail, telephone, online)
- Interview by phone instead of in-person
- Use maximum allowable certification periods
- Reduce verification burdens using technology
- Work requirement exemptions?
- Internal capacity for operating call centers or web-based interfaces

SNAP ADJUSTMENTS: MASS DENIAL

- Waiving restrictions on students' eligibility
- Providing emergency allotments that exceed the maximum benefit for a household's size
- Waiving the state agency's responsibility to reduce or terminate benefits when a household's circumstances change or found to be ineligible
- Treating all applications as if they are eligible for expedited processing
- Waiving requirements to use documentary evidence as the primary source of verification for all items except residency and household size
- Waiving requirements to verify gross non-exempt income

<https://fns-prod.azureedge.net/sites/default/files/resource-files/SNAP-COVID19-Multiple-Adjustment-Denials.pdf>

Indian Tribal Organization Aid

The New York Times

Native American Tribes Sue Treasury Over Stimulus Aid as They Feud Over Funding

A dispute among native populations over $8 billion in federal coronavirus relief has delayed aid to tribes that are among the hardest-hit by Covid-19.

People lined up in cars to get tested for the coronavirus in Utah's Oljato-Monument Valley, part of the Navajo Nation. Kristin Murphy/The Deseret News, via Associated Press

“The outcome of the lawsuits will dictate how the stimulus funds and any future relief are distributed among the 574 federally recognized tribes, tribal leaders and advocates said. But it also all but guarantees that some of the aid will remain frozen, leaving tribal citizens without critical federal assistance even as the number of virus-related deaths on some reservations eclipses that of entire states.”
