

Making & Knowing Lab: Open Day

Thursday, Feb 23rd, 2017
3PM-6PM, Drop in when you can!

Chandler 260
3000 Broadway

Come see the M&K lab, where the project is reconstructing historical artisanal, technical, alchemical, and craft techniques from the 16th century. As a research cluster of the Center for Science and Society, the Project brings together participants from the humanities, arts, and sciences to foster new connections and insights through interdisciplinary research, teaching, and knowledge exchange.

DIRECTIONS TO THE LAB:

The lab is in Chandler 260, which is a building inside Havemeyer Hall:

- 1) Enter the main entrance of Havemeyer Hall.
- 2) Turn left and proceed down the hallway.
- 3) Turn right when you see signs for Chandler Hall.
- 4) Follow the signs past the Chemistry Office on your left and go through the door to Chandler Hall.
- 5) Turn immediately right to go down the staircase one floor and then walk down the hallway until you arrive at 260.

Free and open to Columbia affiliates

For more information about the Making & Knowing Project:

Website: <http://www.makingandknowing.org/>

Twitter: <https://twitter.com/makingknowing>

Flickr: <http://tinyurl.com/htecvt9>

HIST GR8906: Craft and Science Fall 2017 syllabus:

<http://tinyurl.com/zhwqcp1>

THE CENTER FOR SCIENCE & SOCIETY
AT COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY